DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims fail to state the relationship of the layers to the amounts of the charge transport material. Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pai et al 614 in view of Pai et al 077. Pai 614 discloses an electrophotographic imaging member comprising a supporting substrate, an electrically conductive layer, a charge generating layer and two charge generating layers. The first layer of the transport material has a relatively high weight percentage of charge transporting segments note Col.4 lines 59-62. Applicants' second layer is deposited on the first layer and has a lower amount of charge transport material. Pai also teaches the electrically conductive surface note Col.5- Col. 6 and the charge generating layer as a metal phthalocyanine Col. 8 note claim 30-31. Pai fails to teach the small activating molecule as the charge transporting material such as arylamine. In Col. 10 the polymeric arylamine polymer can be part of the charge transport material along with other material. Pai 007 teaches the various aromatic diamine compounds that are charge transport materials. Note Col.6- Col. 7 applicants' claims 16-22. Applicants' claims 43-52 have a two layer or more structure with a first and second layer. There is no way to distinguish between the two as to which is the top layer. Either reference would apply with out reference to the charge generating layer as teaching two charge generating layers with different concentrations of charge transport material. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicants' invention with a reasonable expectation of success to use the small molecular charge transport material as the material with different concentrations in a two charge transport layered structure to control the mobility of the hole mobility in an electrophotographic process.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-52 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 10-18 & 20 of copending Application No. 10/734380. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both teach the different concentrations of the dual layered charge transport charge generating imaging member.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
